British Motor Heritage bodysHELLS

If your car needs major bodywork repairs, a new bodysHELL may be the best option. The cost is less than you think, by the time you add in the labour cost of fitting body parts it may well be the cheapest option.

British Motor Heritage bodysHELLS are built using the original assembly jigs. Long life is ensured by the use of zinc coated steel in rust prone areas, the shells are finished in motor industry standard black electrocoat. The shells are completely immersed in an electrically charged tank of anodic etch primer. This ensures the best possible coverage and paint ingress into all area of the body. The bodysHELLS listed below come with doors, bonnet and boot lid, they are also available without these bolt-ons, please contact your branch for details.

BodysHELL policy

1. Body shells are purchased with a 30% deposit as a special order item and customers must pay all delivery charges.
2. When body shells are received, the customer will be notified and delivery will take place within 14-21 days.
3. There will be storage charges of £20.00 per day drawn from the deposit, beginning on the 22nd day following notification if the customer is unable to take delivery.
4. If delivery is not taken within 30 days, the remaining deposit money will be returned to the customer and the order cancelled.

Clubman bodysHELL

The Heritage Clubman bodysHELL is a direct replacement for 1976 on Clubman models with rubber mounted subframes. It can be used for earlier cars with some modifications, 1972-1976 cars will need the subframes replacing with the rubber mounted versions, 1969-1972 models had a different gear shift mechanism that will need some modifications to the bodysHELL.
